"We loved Catherine's creativity and she totally understood the style we wanted to achieve" Islington client

Catherine Monk's practical emphasis in her design work stems from many years of personal experience in the property sector. She was brought up with a paintbrush in one hand and a notebook in the other. While renovating her own homes, she became an award-winning magazine editor and contributor to the Home section of The Sunday Times. Now she's focused on designing homes that fulfill her clients' desires.
